Corporate Real Estate

Serving on the CoreNet Global Board of Directors

Serving on the CoreNet Global Board of Directors affords corporate real estate leaders with...

- a meaningful way to give back to their professional community
- unique opportunities to use their industry knowledge and thought leadership expertise
- experiences that enhance their leadership potential
- an energizing, executive environment to hone their strategic planning skills
- a network expanding platform on a global stage
- a broader view of the corporate real estate profession
- a seat at the table in shaping the future of an industry in existing and emerging markets
- a window into the insights and expertise of colleagues and multinational companies around the world
- a voice in issues that matter to their businesses and their profession
- a vote on strategic and governance policies that guide the organization
- a rewarding, engaging volunteer role with professional recognition
- a collegial community for best practice sharing, camaraderie and career building

These are just some of the benefits of serving on the CoreNet Global Board of Directors, a strategic and governance body focused on executive-level oversight of the corporate real estate profession's premier professional organization. CoreNet Global serves almost 11,000 members at various phases of their corporate real estate-related careers and seeks volunteers with vision and an aptitude for long-term strategic planning.

For more information on the specific requirements, time commitments and expectations of board members, see the Key Board Member Attributes & Expectations document.
